

HOME NEWS.

PROMINENT ARRIVALS.

Fifth Avenue Hotel—Ex-Senator Powell Clayton, of Arkansas; Congressman Thomas B. Reed, of Maine; ex-Congressman J. D. Morrell, of Pennsylvania, and Judge James Craven, of Iowa.... New York Hotel—Colonel George H. Curtis, of New York; General Charles G. Frazee, of Boston; Carlo Gardini and Miss Eliza Gerster.... Worcester—Mr. and Mrs. Anna de Rebeca.... Senator James Wooton, of Georgia, N. Y., and S. S. Merrill, General Manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway.... General House, Architect, Fribourg, of London.... G. E. B. B. The Rev. Dr. Cox, of London.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Wakefield near Woodlawn, has a "Nineteenth-ave."

Thieves have lately rifled many gardens in the annexed district.

Many rowboats danced on the waters around the city yesterday.

Many of the beer-shops and cheap shows in the Bowery were open last evening.

The number of immigrants who arrived at Castle Garden in September was 10,912.

The boats along the East River yesterday were crowded with men engaged fishing.

The Wait-a-button is one of the neatest and consequently one of the favorite styles.

The speed of trains running over Harlem Bridge has been reduced to ten miles an hour.

The fitter for embroidery is at its height, and everything that can be is embroidered.

Pins is much used on the new bonnets, and may be safely called the favorite material in millinery.

The neatest fictions are of chenille woven in large meshes and interwoven with threads of gold and silver tinsel.

An unknown man, apparently a vagrant, died in the alley of No. 87 Mulberry-st, from exposure on Saturday night.

Men were replacing the pavement in front of Fulton Ferry yesterday, and new flowers have been laid in the cracks.

Many grain residents complain loudly against the negligent way in which the panes of street lamps are cleaned.

While crossing Fulton Ferry yesterday a TRINUS reporter counted thirty-seven kites flying several hundred feet in the air.

INCENSE IN THE STREETS.

It probably never occurs to the street boys who swing burning rubbish in tomato cans after the manner of a censer that they injure not only themselves, but all in reach of the vile smoke resulting.

A PISTOL CARELESSLY HANDLED.

Two Italians named Galice and Giuseppe, were handling a pistol carelessly in their room at No. 20 Princess-st, yesterday when the weapon was accidentally discharged. Galice was wounded severely in the thigh.

AN OLD MAN WHO WAS LOST.

Henry Zellner, a German, eighty-eight years old, was found Saturday night in the New-Haven Railroad Depot in North New-York. He did not know where he lived. He was temporarily committed at the Harlem Police Court yesterday.

ELEVEN BLOCK PUZZLE.

A dry goods firm in this city is presenting to customers a puzzle card, known as the Eleven Block Puzzle. It consists of eleven irregular pieces in the puzzle out of which persons who have an abundance of leisure can form a four-inch square.

PICKING POCKETS AT CHURCH.

John Smith, of No. 34 Forsyth-st., and John Nolan, were arrested on a charge of attempting to pick pockets at St. Peter's Church, in Sullivan-st., yesterday. They were committed for trial at the Jefferson Market Police Court.

SHEET OF DIAMONDS.

Caroline Anderson was arrested, at No. 104 East Seventh-st., yesterday, charged with stealing a diamond cross and earings, worth $1,000, belonging to a resident of Philadelphia. She was committed, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, yesterday, to await a trial at the Criminal Court.

NOT PEACEFUL NEIGHBORS.

John Sheldon, colored, of No. 457 Seventh-ave., and another negro named Nicholas Green, had a fight in Twenty-sixth-st., early yesterday morning and Sheldon was stabbed severely in the arm. He was taken to the New-York Hospital. Green escaped, and the police were unable to learn where he lived.

BROOKLYN.

The cough of horses afflicted with epizooty was noticeable on the street-car lines yesterday.

No progress has been made for many weeks on the elevated road structure near the Fulton Ferry. Thomas Marshall, of No. 672 Clarendon-st., has presented, to the Jefferson Market Police Court, yesterday, to await a trial at the Criminal Court.

THE OPEN CARS.

The open cars on some of the street-car lines did not meet with a warm reception yesterday, and passengers sought the sunshades.

Henry Pfleister was arrested yesterday for having stolen a check from his parents, August 31. The amount of it was $100, and the young man got it cashed and spent the money.

Bergens was filled yesterday with clouds of flying dust, to the disgust of residents and passengers. The street cars of the D-Department seems to have descended into the gutter.

Thomas Gordon, of King and Conover-sts., was badly injured in a quarrel in a barroom at Van Brunt and Dykeman-sts., yesterday morning. Patrick Ryan, his assailant, was arrested.

Boys go "chestnutting" in Prospect Park now. Policemen prevent them from injuring the trees, but do not stop them from gathering all that they find on the ground. The chestnut crop is very large this year.

Mr. and Mrs. William Redmond, of No. 32 Webster-st., having several domestic difficulties of late, leading to a separation. The custody of an adopted child has been a matter of dispute also. Saturday evening Mrs. Redmond met her husband in the street, and, without any warning, presented a loaded pistol, pointing the muzzle at his chest. He thrust it aside before it could be fired. She was afterward arrested.

JERSEY CITY.

William McGuire, of No. 177 Wayne-st., in a quarrel with John Peart, of No. 148 First-st., first clubbed him in the side of the head and nose. McGuire was arrested. The injured man will recover.

Mrs. Mary Doyle, of No. 155 Bay-st., who killed her child Saturday night, by throwing it from a third-story window, while insane, was so violent yesterday that her screams could be heard two blocks from the station-house.

NEWARK.

Bishop Corrigan confirmed 225 young men and women at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church yesterday. This will probably be the last official act of the Bishop in the diocese previous to assuming the duties of the archbishop of Manila.

A little son of Patrick Connelly, of No. 21 Morris and Essex-sts., died in his father's arms on Saturday ten minutes after the father had administered to him a dose of medicine. The County Physician will investigate the character of the preparation.

Patrolman Waldron, of the Newark police force, while attempting to arrest a drunken negro on Broad-st., Newark, at midnight a week ago, was thrown against the window of the First National Bank, and the window was broken. Neither patrolman has sent a letter to Waldron asking him to pay for the glass.

LONG ISLAND.

ASTORIA.—After the family of Joshua Lthrop, of Franklin-st., Astoria, had risen from dinner on Saturday night, they discovered that thieves had gained an entrance to the house by a rear window, and ransacked the upper rooms, stealing jewelry and money.

HENFORD.—The Presbytery of Long Island meets at Hempstead today. The meeting will be opened with a sermon by the retiring Moderator, the Rev. Edwin Brown, of Green Lanes, Suffolk County.... The water in the Hempstead Reservoir is flowing rapidly, and lowering an inch daily in the conduit.

STATION ISLAND.

New-Brighton.—Library Hall at New-Brighton, formerly the property of the late Carter Dempsey, has passed into the hands of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company.

BASE-BALL NOTES.

The Detroit, Providence and Buffalo Base-ball Clubs want Bancroft next season for manager.

The League Association will meet to-day at the Osborne House, Rochester, instead of at Saratoga.

George Wright is to have a benefit in Boston next week.

St. Louis will place a League club in the field next year.

The Cleveland Club defeated the National Club at Washington on Saturday by a score of 8 to 1.

Derry, Powell, McLellan, Morrissey, Mansell and Baker have signified their intention to play the National's of Washington next season.

The club was again victorious in the game with Jasper College Club, Saturday at the U.S. Naval Academy, Brooklyn. The score was as follows: Metropolitan, 14; Jasper College, 3.

Manager Muir telegraphed to the manager of the Chicago Club Saturday asking to have a series of matches between the Chicago League Club and the Metropolitan Club to be played in New-York this month.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the indebtedness was reduced to $13,200. At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

Blatt's Pills—Great English Gout and Rheumatic Remedy. Oval box, $1.00; 50c. At drugstores.

NERVOUS IMPOTENCE, Impotence, Atrophy,

of the Organs of Generation, &c., &c., &c., &c., &c., as the indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.

In 1879 the sum of $1,000 was expended on the grandstand, and the season was considered a success, as the

indebtedness was reduced to $13,200.

At the close of 1880 the association's debt was $8,500, and the salaries of the players reached $13,200.

The Providence Base-ball Association organized in 1878 with a capital stock of $5,000. During that year the sum of $2,000 was expended on the grounds, and the indebtedness at the close of the season reached $4,000.